

Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey
Articulation Agreement for the Bloustein Direct Admit Programs in: Health Administration, Public Policy, Public Health, and Urban Planning and Design

Bergen Community College and the
Rutgers University Edward J. Bloustein School of Planning and Public Policy

Purpose

The purpose of this Articulation Agreement (hereafter "Agreement") and Conditional Admission Agreement is to enable students who graduate with an Associate Degree (A.A., or A.S.) from Bergen Community College (hereinafter Bergen) to continue their education at Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey for the purpose of matriculating for a Baccalaureate degree (Bachelor of Science, or B.S.) in Health Administration, Public Policy, Public Health, or Urban Planning and Design from the Rutgers University Edward J. Bloustein School of Planning and Public Policy (hereinafter Bloustein).

Mutual Recognition of Community College Degree and Advanced Standing

This Agreement will allow for continued progression toward the bachelor's degree as part of a Rutgers-Bergen Partnership through direct admission to the Edward J. Bloustein School of Planning and Public Policy (the Bloustein School) and matriculation as a New Brunswick Campus student enrolled in one of several B.S. programs offered by Bloustein (i.e. Health Administration, Public Health, Public Policy, and Urban Planning and Design).

Accordingly, the Agreement speaks specifically to admission to the Bloustein School with guaranteed advanced standing as a third year student. Unconditional admission criteria include:

Students completing their A.A. or A.S. degree at shall be considered as having completed all lower division distribution requirements, and shall enter Bloustein with 60 credits toward the 120 credit B.S. in Health Administration, Public Health, Public Policy, and Urban Planning and Design. Accordingly, graduates in the A.S. or A.A. degree programs shall enter with third year standing.

Admission for Students Presenting an A.A.S. degree for the B.S. in Health Administration (501D)

Students completing their A.A.S. degree at Bergen with a 2.5 cumulative grade point average in all college level courses, and the three lower division pre-requisite courses specified in the table above under Health Administration with a "C" or better, will also be considered as having met the admission requirements for acceptance into the Bloustein School B.S. program in Health Administration, and shall be afforded an admission opportunity.

In the case of A.A.S. degree holders, once admitted:

- A.A.S. students may be required to complete up to 12 credits in distributional requirements as assessed by Bloustein based upon the courses completed with a "C" or better at Bergen. These credits will be determined upon admission and may include (a) social and behavioral aspects (3 to 6 credits), math (0 to 3 credits), humanities (3 to 6 credits) and/or science (3 to 6 credits). Lower division pre-requisites may at the discretion of Bloustein be included in determination of the 12 credit post admission requirement.

- For A.A.S. graduates, conditional upon satisfactory performance as specified below (“C” or Better in Major Courses...”), “post admission” upper division requirements shall not exceed 61 credits for A.A.S. degree recipients as B.S., as outlined as follows:
 - Major requirements in Health Administration - 49Cr.
 - Post admission distribution – 12 cr
 - Total upper division requirements – 61

This upper division limit of 61 credits is based on all courses in the major earned at Rutgers be at or better than a “C”.

Students not presenting the required pre-requisite courses shall complete said courses within the first semester at Rutgers and such deficiency(ies) are excluded from the 61 upper-division credit maximum; accordingly, A.A.S. students considering this options should integrate as many Health Administration pre-requisites in the Bergen C.C. coursework as possible.

All admitted students: “C” or Better in Major Courses While At Rutgers University

Failure to maintain a “C” or better in all major courses will necessarily result in requiring completing additional courses with a “C” or better or the retake of courses in which a “C” or better was not earned. Such additional courses and/or retakes will result in the need to complete more than 121 credits. Once admitted to the Bloustein School, students are subject to the academic performance requirements of Rutgers University and the Bloustein School. In all instances, 30 of the last 42 credits must be completed at Rutgers University.

Continued On-Going Mutual Discussion of Curricula: and the Bloustein School shall annually review degree programs to discuss whether any curriculum changes may be recommended, or to advise the other partner of changes contemplated that may affect this agreement; each institution remains in full control of the degrees for which it is authorized.

Review of Agreement

This agreement shall be for a term of five (5) years and must be reviewed and extended (or renewed) during its fourth year, with extensions presumed to be approved.

Both and the Bloustein School commit to resolve unidentified issues and challenges in a manner that insures the greatest educational opportunity while recognizing fiscal constraints that may emerge.

Cancellation of this Agreement may be initiated by either party. Cancellation of this Agreement must be in writing, and provide for a prior full academic year advance notice of the date of termination. For the purposes of such advance notice, July 1 shall be the date by which cancellation may occur on July 1 the following year (for fall semester-spring semester sequence) and January 1 shall serve as the notification date for dissolution the following January 1st (i.e. Spring Semester, Fall semester)

In the Interest of Students

This Agreement is intended to serve as a guide for students seeking to transfer to the Public Policy program at the Edward J. Bloustein School of Planning and Public Policy, Rutgers University, New Brunswick Campuses. It is designed to make transfer and admission transparent and feasible, recognizing the assets offered by both and Rutgers University.

That said, we each recognize that every student is different, offering different skills and competencies. The EJB School is committed to providing students/graduates interested in the Public Policy program with guidance and information as may be required to facilitate their academic planning and transfer potential.
